APOPKA, Fla. – (Oct. 28, 2024) – KENPAT, a leading Florida specialty contractor specializing in interior and exterior wall systems, announced today that it has received two Excellence in Construction (EIC) Awards from the Associated Builders and Contractors \(ABC\) Central Florida Chapter, showcasing the company's commitment to quality craftsmanship and collaborative project execution.

Gaylord Palms Osceola Ballroom

The 48,505-square-foot Osceola ballroom at the Gaylord Palms Resort was transformed with KENPAT leading several critical aspects of the renovation. The team installed 150 Glass Fiber Reinforced Gypsum (GFRG) panels, meticulously caulking half a mile of joints to create a seamless design. Concurrently, 16,000 square feet of acoustical ceiling tiles were installed. The team also refurbished 25,000 square feet of perimeter walls. The result was a beautifully revitalized space that exceeded the client's expectations.

The Villages Charter High School

For The Villages Charter High School project, KENPAT's scope of work included installing advanced wall and ceiling systems across the new building, ensuring high acoustic performance and durability for the learning environment. KENPAT's attention to detail and adherence to strict timelines helped deliver a top-tier educational facility that serves the growing needs of the community.

Both projects required seamless collaboration across multiple trades and teams to meet challenging deadlines and maintain the highest standards of quality. KENPAT's success in these efforts reflects the dedication and skill of its workforce and partners.

"We are incredibly proud of our team and the partnerships that made these projects successful," said Christina Weaver, director of operations at KENPAT Central Florida.
